Larry Loomis is president of GRUNAU COMPANY, INC., a mechanical contracting, specialty metal fabricating and engineering firm, located in Oak Creek, Wis., with fire protection branch offices in Indianapolis, Ind., Youngstown, Ohio, Pittsburgh, Pa., Orlando and Ft. Myers, Fla. Larry assumed his role in 2009.

As president, Loomis provides leadership to the Grunau team in the implementation and execution of it's strategy to offer unique, personable service.

He acts as a coach and mentor to the Grunau staff, providing support and advice as they build and maintain the positively different customer relationships that are the cornerstone of Grunau.

Loomis joined the Grunau team as a project manager in 1990. He was later promoted to Project Executive with the Milwaukee mechanical division where he was responsible for all facets of mechanical construction operations, including initial project design, budgeting, coordination and supervision of estimations, final design and detailing, billings, and project management of the entire team.

Loomis graduated in 1989 from Purdue University with a bachelor's in construction engineering. He later received his master's in mechanical engineering from Marquette University and completed an executive master's of business administration from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 2003.

Loomis is a licensed professional engineer and master plumber in the state of Wisconsin. He is also a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers and the American Society of Heating, Refrigeration and Air-Conditioning Engineers (ASHRAE).
